The Lexington School’s dress code requires slacks, pants, or school appropriate length skirts/shorts, in solid khaki, navy, gray, or black, along with any solid-colored collared, button-down, or turtleneck shirt. Solid-colored fleece with collars, jackets, or sweaters may also be worn. Students are allowed to wear solid colored crew neck sweatshirts with a collared shirt underneath. TLS branded sweatshirts or hoodies are also acceptable, but hoods must be kept down while students are inside. Unless TLS branded, all clothing items should be devoid of pictures or patterns. Patterned tights are allowed in Preschool only. Acorns students will follow the daily uniform in solid colors but are not required to have collared shirts. Leggings must be worn under clothing (they cannot be worn alone as pants). Outerwear need not follow the solid-color rule unless it is worn inside the building.

FOOTWEAR:
We ask that all students wear any secure fitting, rubber-soled, tennis shoes, dress shoes, or boots daily.

ACORNS:
The dress code for Acorns are solid colors Monday-Thursday, and patterns are allowed on Friday. The collared shirt rule does not apply to Acorns.

EXCEPTIONS:
On the first calendar Monday each month, there will be a “jeans day” for the entire school. Jeans or other regular dress bottoms along with regular dress tops and TLS spirit gear are appropriate. The solid color rule does apply to these “jeans days”. The dates for “jeans days” will be announced in the division heads’ weekly news. There will be days when the school may declare special “jeans days.” These will be communicated in advance. There is also a tradition that The Lexington School calls a “jeans day” if Fayette County has declared a snow day while TLS is in session. This will be confirmed on the school website. Regular dress tops or TLS spirit wear are acceptable on any jeans day.
